HEALTHY SAVING HABITS FOR KIDS

Saving is a learned behavior. It's something that kids need to practice over and over from an early age. When teaching your child how to save money, it is important to start early and explain it in a way that can be easily understood by children.

Here are six steps to help your children develop healthy saving habits:

- Brainstorm income opportunities
- Celebrate their success
- Start early
- Link saving to a goal
- Create a plan
- Develop the habit
